

LIGNES COLLECTION - designed by Marco Gennaro

Refined design for the furnishings of the Lignes collection, a harmonious combination of tradition and modernity to fully enjoy the outdoor space in an atmosphere of beauty, quiet and relaxation. The outdoor fabric straps wrap the structure in Teak wood with circular section, becoming an integral part of the structure of this piece of furniture. Proposed in the standard version in the colours mugwort (Artemisia) green and shadow land, a combination of soft nuances with an ancient and primordial flavour: the green-grey silver of mugwort (Artemisia), an ancient plant whose name derives from Artemis, Greek goddess of hunting and woods, is perfectly combined with the light grey-brown pigment typical of the natural clays present in Umbria. The straps can be matched in a wide variety of colour combinations, allowing a wide versatility of use in environments with different characteristics.

Marco Gennaro

Architect and interior designer, active since 1998, he explores different territories ranging from interior design to renovation, from art direction to graphic design. His projects include numerous and varied commissions in residential and commercial areas, from the detail of the private apartment to large buildings of architectural and historical value, as well as interior design projects, design and curatorial interventions for exhibitions, art galleries and events. His work moves in a preferential way on the coordinates of the recycling and the creative and unexpected reuse of structures and materials, to enhance the intrinsic and functional nature of places and objects.
