A garden is a place to relax, a place of pleasure and purification, of freedom and peace, of fun and friendship. Il Giardino di Legno comes from wood, or better form the best wood for outdoor furnishings offered by nature: teak is the raw material which has always been used for all those manufactures thought for the outdoor. Our company is based on the features of this material. It is marked out by the elephant, symbol of strength, resistance and longevity, as well as teak has good durability and resistance. As the great architect and modern design icon Charlotte Perriand said: "Objects are never neutral, they always interact with humans and we keep this in mind at all times".
