---------------------	------------------------

ALWADI, an Egyptian phosphate mining and processing company, continues to strengthen its operational capabilities across exploration, drilling, extraction, crushing, classification, quality control, storage, and logistics.

Through its integrated operating model, the company supplies Egyptian rock phosphate in different grades and sizes for fertilizer, chemical, and industrial applications. ALWADI's technical teams, mining fleet, crushing facilities, and laboratory capabilities support consistent product specifications from mine to market.

Quality assurance remains central to the company's operations. Production batches are subject to laboratory testing before dispatch, while logistics and distribution activities are managed to support reliable delivery to customers in Egypt and international markets.

"Our focus is to combine responsible mining with dependable quality and efficient delivery. We are committed to building long-term partnerships and supporting the continued development of Egypt's phosphate sector."
